PROFILE

We started Afterglobe in 2013 and since then we have shared stories about our travels, experiences, and everyday life. Our posts are with a personal touch to give a real and true picture of how it is to travel the world as twenty-something couple. We do guides about everything - from food in St. Petersburg to how to get the best seat in the plane. We see our readers as friends, and we want to inspire them to go travel and experience the world with the best possible tips and tricks.
